Citizens’ Committee for Children of New York (CCC) educates and mobilizes New Yorkers to make the city a better place for children. Our advocacy combines public policy research and data analysis with citizen action. We cast light on the issues, educate the public, engage allies, and identify and promote practical solutions to ensure that every child is healthy, housed, educated and safe.

MAKING NEW YORK A BETTER PLACE TO BE A CHILD

New York City is home to more children than any other city in the country. CCC:

- Gathers and analyzes data on children to fully understand what it’s like to be a child in New York City;
- Researches and analyzes government budgets, policies, programs and services impacting children;
- Educates the community about our findings;
- Develops and advocates for solutions to make New York a better place to be a child.

Visit cccnewyork.org to keep informed, take action or become a leader on children’s issues.

Citizens’ Committee for Children of New York, Inc.
New York City is home to more children than any other city in America. To identify and address issues affecting our children, the Citizens’ Committee for Children of New York (CCC) conducts research on children and families and educates the public, engages allies, and advocates for evidence-based change. Every two years, CCC releases the Children’s Budget Report, which compiles budgets for government programs affecting children and families. CCC also produces and distributes the Keeping Track database, which contains data for more than 160 countries and accounts and does business in more than 160 countries and jurisdictions. Citi is a leading global bank, and has been a proud supporter of organizations and causes that are important to its employees and to the communities in which it operates.

CCC is honoring Citi for its innovative work advancing the field of asset building and financial capability for children and families in low-income communities. CCC is at the forefront of these critically important initiatives.
